

Lost Items

Posted originally on the Archive of Our Own at <http://archiveofourown.org/works/55334314>.

Rating:	Not Rated
Archive Warning:	Creator Chose Not To Use Archive Warnings
Fandom:	Original Work
Language:	English
Stats:	Published: 2024-04-20 Words: 118 Chapters: 1/1

Lost Items

by NN04

It always causes me a great deal of frustration when I lose something. I estimate at least seventy percent of my belongings have at one point gone missing.

This happens no matter how safe a place I put it in.

I often talk to myself or whoever is in the room with me when in the middle of a search.

At present, my companion has been watching and listening intently, as she always does. It would not at all surprise me if she had in fact seen the object I am searching for.

I ask my companion as to whether she had come across the object, but unfortunately, my sister's dear cat can only stare back at me.

Please drop by the Archive and comment to let the creator know if you enjoyed their work!